Parleys On Labor Problems

Truman, Seeking Solution to Strife Takes
Matter to Cabinet

By Sterling F. Green
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(AP)—President Truman today plunged into new conferences seeking the solution to labor strife and took the problem also to his cabinet.

Fresh batches of industry spokesmen and labor leaders conferred with the President on the National Labor-Management peace conference starting Monday.

As he left the White House, James Tanham, vice president of the Texas company and a conference delegate, told reporters that "collective bargaining doesn't get anywhere unless there is responsibility to carry out a contract after it is laid."

R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, said he would enter the conference with an "open mind" but observed:

"I'm hopeful something can be worked out, although I wouldn't go so far as to say something will be worked out at the Labor-Management conference."

Town Meeting

Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, another White House caller, likened the forthcoming conference to an "old New England town meeting on a tremendous scale."

He said it would be a sort of "citizens meeting" in which the men experienced in labor and management will be the citizens and try to make a recommendation to the country.

Neither side, he said, is in a position to make definite commitments binding upon unions and employers.

After today's 30-minute cabinet session, Attorney General Clark said its principal topic of discussion was the approaching labor meeting, called by Mr. Truman to seek a substitute for the War Labor Board and the wartime no-strike no-lockout agreement.

The President's brief speech at the conference opening will not be broadcast nationally, the White House said.

Labor Leaders

Tanham said he was convinced, from collective bargaining in the oil industry, that "some form of responsibility has to be attached to labor leaders to carry out contracts where they are made."

"We've seen some of the fruits of collective bargaining in outlaw and wildcat strikes," he said. The Texas company was one of the 11 involved in the recent dispute with the CIO United Oil Workers which resulted in navy seizure of more than 50 refineries.

The New York oilman's remarks bore out earlier indications that business representatives at the conference would seek from the meeting some form of commitment on full mutual observance of labor contracts.

Child Ill, Seeks His Lost Dog

Bill Staley, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Staley, 2221 East Ninth street, is having a streak of bad luck. For the past week he has been quite ill at his home and now he has lost his dog.

The dog disappeared from the Staley home about 7:00 o'clock Wednesday morning. He answers to the name of "Jiggs" and is a thoroughbred Boston bull, a brindle color with white chest and four white feet. He weighs forty-five pounds and is two and one half years old.

Anyone finding Jiggs is asked to call telephone number 1853. A reward for the dog is offered.

Story Hour Saturday

All children are invited to the story hour at the Sedalia public library Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Miss Lavila Smart, children's librarian, will be in charge.

Sedalia May Have Regular TWA Service

Hearing on an Application at New Orleans Monday

Sedalia may soon have regular airline service if the civil aeronautics Board acts favorably on an application by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., at a hearing November 5, at New Orleans.

The application is for permission to include Sedalia and Jefferson City as scheduled stops on the now-existing route between Kansas City and St. Louis. If approval is granted Sedalia will be linked with other cities on TWA's 7,700-mile domestic system.

The application to include service to Sedalia was made after an extensive study of traffic potentialities. This survey charted the growth of the city during the pre-war "normal" period and the airline believes Sedalia can support the proposed operations.

Much interesting information, some of it perhaps not widely known, has been compiled in exhibit form by TWA's route planners for presentation at the CAB hearing.

Hotel Information

New Hampshire was the only state not listed as a home address on the registry books of the city's hotels during the survey period. Exclusive of the Missourians who were hotel guests, a total of 4,228 visitors were listed during the 12-month period examined. Of this number nearly 1,600 of them resided in areas that are provided air service or already existing TWA routes. The annual hotel receipts for this pre-war period were $160,000.

Other figures tend to show that Sedalia deserves air service. Retail sales during the survey period were $7,804,000; postal receipts were $139,000; a total of 3,113 individual income tax returns were filed. All these figures have been compared in the exhibit with those of cities of approximately population and which now have air carrier service. The comparison puts Sedalia in a favorable light in the opinion of airline officials.

In its summary, TWA estimates that nine persons would be required to handle the operations and that approximately $8,950 would be spent to properly equip the airport and offices for service.

Prosecutor Breaks Down With Sobs

State Senator Resigns in Midst of Trial

Associates Greet Announcement With Relief

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 2—(AP)—State Senator Joseph A. Falzone has resigned in the midst of his expulsion trial on charges that he sought $1,500 to sponsor legislation.

The brief resignation, written in ink on the senator's official stationery, was handed to Lt. Gov. Walter N. Davis in the lobby of a Jefferson City hotel last night by Waldo Edwards of Macon, one of Falzone's attorneys.

Davis said he would present it to Gov. Phil M. Donnelly today and to the senate when it reconvenes Monday.

Falzone indicated he would make a personal statement to the senate Tuesday, the day his unprecedented trial was to have resumed.

Edwards said he advised his client to resign during a conference yesterday afternoon at his home in Clayton, where Mrs. Falzone is reported seriously ill. The attorney added, however, that Falzone "did it himself" without any pressure from other senators.

Resignation Brief

Falzone wrote the simply-worded withdrawal in the bedroom where his wife lay ill. Addressed to Davis, it said only: "I hereby resign as a member of the state senate from the 25th district of Missouri effective at once."

Both Edwards and Falzone said his wife's health was the thing that finally moved him to quit. She suffered a nervous collapse on the morning of the sensational trial's third day Wednesday.

"My wife's physical and mental condition is such that I think the trial should be terminated," Falzone said at his home, where he took her that morning in the midst of the proceedings, subsequently recessed.

"To me my wife's health is more important than anything else that happens in the senate or anywhere else."

Senators Relieved

Senate leaders greeted news of the resignation with relief that they would not have to pass judgment on their Republican colleague.

Sen. M. C. Matthes (R) of Hillsboro, president pro tem of the senate and chairman of the special investigating committee which drafted the accusation against Falzone, summed up like this:

"The whole affair has been very embarrassing to me and I'm sure the other two members of the investigating committee feel that way too."

"Under the circumstances I'm glad Falzone resigned because it relieved the other members of the senate from the embarrassment of having to pass judgment."

Whether the senate would take any further action in the case remained uncertain.

Marked up in Second Try-Hop

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(AP)—The air force marked up today a second-try victory for its B29s over the mileage and adverse weather of the tough nonstop hop from Japan to Washington.

Four of the Superforts flew in to National Airport at 7:38 o'clock last night after a 6,544-mile trip from Mizutani on the Japanese home island of Hokkaido. The lead plane's time was 27 hours, 29 minutes.

The 43 fliers succeeded in a task which defeated three other B29s in the first attempt in September, but failed in a more ambitious plan to better the world distance record by having one of the planes go on to Cuba or Puerto Rico.

K. L. Holdren, coroner, stated action concerning the body will be subject to the wishes of the family.

Democrat Wins

LAMAR, Mo., Nov. 2—(AP)—J. D. Bassett, Democratic candidate for sheriff of Barton county, defeated Archie Brand with a two to one majority in a special election, county officials announced today after final tabulation of votes.

K. L. Holdren, coroner, stated action concerning the body will be subject to the wishes of the family.

Local Pastor's Prayer Chosen
As One of the Most Beautiful

Talk and Think Peace

"This devastating and most destructive of all wars must be the final struggle in which the United States has engaged," Reynolds said. "But the only way to insure peace is to talk peace and constantly to think peace."

"We have asked the country's leading ministers to help direct public thought along this line by contributing prayers for never ending peace."

"Rev. Campbell's prayer incorporates the ideals for which our boys fought and died. He is to be congratulated on his clarity of thought and beauty of expression."

Reynolds asked the nation's leading church officials to contribute prayers for peace suitable for monument inscriptions. These will be published in book form and distributed to monument builders throughout the country in order that civic groups and families who wish to erect monuments to their war dead may have available suitable inscriptions for their heroes.

His prayer is in part as follows: "Almighty God, break down our barriers of selfishness, of greed, of ignorance, of bitter differences, which not only cause men to become enemies but turn us from Thee. Give us, our Father, a judgment to work out a plan for peace on earth and good will toward all men."

Shanghai has Fashion Show

By Richard Cushing
SHANGHAI, Nov. 2—(AP)—

Shanghai's most exclusive set sipped tea and nibbled cakes at the city's first fashion show in five years last night, but the loudest applause for chic tailored suits and slinky lowcut evening gowns came from two score Americans who had enough connections to get in.

Two blonde models and two brunettes — a little heavier than the type usually used but nonetheless poised — paraded around jampacked Paramount ballroom in 61 suits and dresses so American in taste you imagined you were thumbing through today's New York fashion magazines.

Suits Fur Trimmed

Suits were heavily trimmed with leopard, mink and other furs with hats, large purses, integral.

gloves, shoes and accessories to match.

Tea dresses for the most part were gathered at the left hip and were closed up the back with snaps. The colors were subdued—rust, beige, and dark green—except for one royal blue job trimmed with mink.

But the boys really sat up for the main course, the evening gowns.

Here the Chinese influence was evident. A blonde paraded in a Chinese three-quarter length coat of blue green taffeta over a rich rust, floor length skirt split 10 inches up the front. A blonde modeled a high-necked silver lame formal which gave her the appearance of being wrapped in foil.

Colors ranged from fuchsia to black. Suits, apparently worn with everything out here, were integral.

Chinese Succeed Russians

Pouring From U. S.
Transports at Same
Time Russians
Are Withdrawing

By Spencer Moosa

CHUNGKING, Nov. 2—

(AP)—Chinese government troops, pouring from United States transports, began reoccupation landings today at two ports in Manchuria on the same day the Russians were scheduled to begin withdrawing from the country, the army newspaper Sao Tang Pao reported. Japan wrested Manchuria from China in 1931.

The landing points were on opposite sides of Liaotung bay.

On the west side, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's men went on shore at Hulutao, 70 miles northeast of the scene of clashes between his soldiers and Chinese Communists in the area of Chingwangtang.

On the east side, the troops were landed at Yingkow, 100 miles southwest of Mukden and 140 miles north of Port Arthur.

Both Yingkow and Hulutao have rail connections with Mukden. The landing at Hulutao places Chiang's men near rail lines to the rear of Chinese Communist forces which are opposing any overland movement of central government troops toward Manchuria through north China.

Russians Out in December

The army newspaper said the troops of the 13th, 16th and 94th Chinese armies, were taken to Manchuria in U. S. transports from Haiphong, Indo-China, and Hong Kong.

The government soldiers will be moved north in strength this month to permit complete withdrawal of the Russians by Dec. 1, said a semi-official dispatch from Tientsin.

Meanwhile, as scattered fighting occurred in 11 northern provinces of China, a central government cabinet spokesman charged anew that all Japanese soldiers were "sadists and beasts" as he testified that Yamashita's troops poured gasoline over women's heads and set them afire, made sport of young girls for the entertainment of other Japanese at a club and then raped one of the girls after she was dead.

Another Spaniard, Jose Maldonado, described the tossing of a hand grenade into a bathroom where the Japanese had locked up all

The typhoon of September 16, 1944, hit the area in Okinawa where he was based prior to his return for discharge.

Before entering service, Mr. Dickson was a faculty member of Smith-Cotton high school. He plans to resume teaching in the near future.

A Hallowe'en party was given Tuesday afternoon from 4:00 to 5:00 o'clock at Whittier school with about fifty boys of Cub Scout age as guests. The party was given to interest the boys in Cub Scouting so that a pack might be organized in that school.

Older Boy Scouts assisted in entertaining.

The basement was darkened and lighted only by one little candle which kept going out. As the guests entered they were grabbed by a ghost which appeared from the fireplace. The ghost was Gene Sutherlin. Richard Sutherlin, in the costume of an old fashioned girl invited them down to the basement and Billy Dean, as an old lady, escorted them to the tables where refreshments were served.

All were dressed in costume and awards for the best were as follows: Group 1, a pumpkin pie

200 Attend 'Vets' Reunion

Party Sponsored By Company F, Is Given At Armory

More than 250 persons attended the reunion of veterans of the old 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guards, and veterans of Company F, Fourth Missouri Infantry, who saw service during World War II, which was held at the State Guard Armory, Thursday night. The party was sponsored by Company F, Fourth Missouri Infantry, in honor of the above mentioned veterans.

Major A. H. Wilks, gave a brief address of welcome and told of Battery F and Headquarters Battery entering federal service back in December 1940, and were receiving training at the time Pearl Harbor was bombed causing the outbreak of war for the United States.

Col. George Farrell, commanding officer of the Fourth Missouri Infantry, Columbia, gave the principal talk of the evening. Colonel Farrell, told of the 128th being called for federal service in 1940 and of their leaving Missouri on December 5 of that year. He reviewed the duties of the Missouri State Guard, which replaced the activity of the National Guards in Missouri, and of these volunteers carrying on during the past four and a half years.

He also said that it will be a year to eighteen months before the National Guards will be reorganized and predicted greater success of this organization than pre-war days. The colonel also stated the record of the Missouri National Guards rated among the first in National Guards in the United States prior to Pearl Harbor, and even the Missouri State Guards have rated in the top brackets for their work since the war, among such organizations in the United States.

Had Social Session

Following the talk of Colonel Farrell, a social session was enjoyed at which time Lee Brandt's orchestra played for dancing and a buffet luncheon being served by members of Company F.

During the evening Captain William Miller, Lieut. William A. Pate, Lieut. Paul Alpert, of Sedalia and Captain W. L. Chick of Clinton, along with S/Sgt. Luther M. Beymer, S/Sgt. John W. Rives, Pvt. Cecil O'Brien, Pfc. Riley T. Hayworth, Pfc. Denver Miller, and Pfc. Tommy Craig, met in the office of Captain A. B. Burke, and discussed the organization of the Second Battalion, 28th Field Artillery organization.

Plans For Organization

The group at this meeting decided to hold another meeting at the Sedalia Armory, on Wednesday November 28th at which time formal organization will be held, and election of officers conducted. A committee is to be appointed at that time to formulate by-laws.

All members of Battery D, of Booneville, Battery E, of Clinton, Battery F, Headquarters Battery and Service Train, Battery of Sedalia, which left Sedalia back in 1940 are invited to attend.

Among the officers attending the reunion Thursday night who were old members of the 128th were Col. John C. "Jack" McLaughlin, Major Patrick Handley, Major Captain H. O. Berry, Captain Milton Mathews, Lieut. Thomas L. Biggs, Lieut. Paul Alpert, Lieut. Richard Arbuckle, Lieut. William A. Pate, all of Sedalia, and Captain W. L. Chick of Clinton.

Many of the boys during the evening discussed their early training as members of the National Guard and of being mobilized into federal service their going to England and their state in that country as members of the 231st of the Sixth Armored Division. They recalled their going to France 48 days after D-Day and their battles along the coast.

They were at St. Lo breakthrough, Avranches, France, at which place they captured 5,000 prisoners, their 250 mile trek to Brest, of their tour across France into Belgium. They were in the battle of Bulge, at Bastogne, Belgium, of the 121st Airborne troops taking the credit, "but it was we boys from Sedalia who were in the thick of that fight," one of the veterans interrupted.

The Sedalians battled their way into Germany, and at one time were only 70 miles from Berlin. At the close of the war the Sixth Armored Division was 100 miles in the territory which was to have been taken by the Russians in accordance with the "Big Three" agreement.

It was the first time since their discharge from the service less than six weeks ago that the boys really got together and reviewed their experiences.

Sedalia Churches Invite You For Sunday Worship

"Have We Not All One Father? Hath Not One God Created Us?"

Sunday School Lesson

Fellowship in the Church
Scripture: Matthew 18:15-20;
Acts 2:44-47; 4:31-37; Romans
12; Philippians 1:27-24; 1 John
3:14-24

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The Scripture passages designated for this lesson all have in common emphasis upon the love, and the spirit of mutual helpfulness, that ought to exist between all Christians, particularly in the fellowship of the church. There is a note also concerning the power of a church in which Christians are all of one mind, and are united in acknowledging and living this high ideal of love, mutual service and brotherhood.

Is it possible, one might ask, for all Christians, or for all members of a local church to be of one mind? Is there not value in diversity?

To this the answer must be that all Christians are subject to the injunction "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." (Philippians 2:5); but Paul, who gave that injunction, emphasized also the diversities among Christians ("All members have not the same office.")

There are basic elements of Christian faith and practice, exemplified in the life and teaching of Jesus. This is "the mind of Christ" that ought to be in every true Christian; but upon that basis there can be, and ought to be, wide diversities as individual Christians follow the Master's guidance.

From emphasis upon Christianity in the home, we have turned to consider the Christian way in the church. The two, home and church, ought to go together in the life of every family that would be in any real sense Christian.

Recently I have heard of a movement for developing and strengthening family religion in encouraging and provoking aids for worship in the home. In the way in which the matter was reported to me it was suggested that this might take the place of the church school, or Sunday school, in so far as this institution has failed. It is my judgment that this movement for an increase and development of family religion will fail, if it means a complacent attitude toward any alleged failure or weakness in the Sunday school, or a further weakening of that institution, that really needs strengthening if the church itself is to have a strong and vigorous life.

Family religion, fine as it can be made, is not enough in itself. A family religion, divorced from the church and lacking the full expression of Christian fellowship could not be in any real sense Christian. The family needs the church, as much as the church needs the family.

The first Christians, in the early church, had all things in common, just as groups of Christians in monasteries, or religious orders, or in self-contained Christian communities, have practiced communism at many times, and in many places, during the centuries since the church began.

This does not mean that communism as these first Christians practiced it is either advisable or feasible under the complex conditions of modern society. But it does mean that even in the most complex social conditions true Christians will wish to live unselfishly, using themselves and their possessions for the doing of the will of God, and for the blessing of their fellow men. Let us thank God for the men and women who have lived in that Christian way; and let us realize that complex as society may be, there can be no lasting peace, prosperity and happiness for all until all men live to love and help one another.

Christian Love

All human beings must be treated as God's beloved children. That is the law of Christian love. It means that though we may have no natural liking for, or may, indeed, heartily dislike, a particular person, we are nevertheless obliged to show him the courtesy and consideration that is always the hallmark of the truly Christian man or woman.

These two words—courtesy and consideration—are synonymous with charity. Charity, in this sense, has not the narrow meaning associated with almsgiving, but embraces the virtues of kindness, understanding, compassion, and forgiving generosity so supremely demonstrated by Christ during His stay on earth.

The genuine Christian seeks to imitate Christ. His attitude toward others is determined by the fixed principle that as he would have God treat him, so must he treat his fellowmen. His guiding thought is that every kind word, every courteous gesture, every unselfish service directed toward others is also an act of personal homage to God.

The human heart is made noble by kindness. It is hallowed by every unselfish thought or deed. The greatest men of any age are not those who have reached the pinnacles of fame or fortune, but those whose hearts were emptied of self-love to become vessels of comforting and encouragement for others.

The brightest pages of history are not those filled with dramatic tales of great achievements, but the humbler pages writ by the great lovers of God who paid court to Him in the persons of the ragged and the needy; who saw in the tears of the lonely and the discouraged a call to pity and understanding for His name's sake.

Merry-Go-Round by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—Navy day was a thrill for thousands here at home, but not for a million others going to seed on Pacific islands or twiddling their thumbs in Europe waiting for transportation home.

Transportation has come to be the biggest bottleneck of the whole discharge system. And what burns me up is to see transportation squandered by officers while they are powerless to get home. Here are some illustrations.

1. A total of 650 German horses were loaded on the SS Stephen Austin at Bremerhaven for transportation back to Fort Riley, Kas., the army's cavalry school. Many of them were race horses. Not only did the horses take up valuable space on a ship which could have carried GIs, but an airplane-load of brass hats flew across the Atlantic to Fort Riley to make sure their steeds got safely aboard. The boys who loaded the horses remained on in Germany.

2. Last weekend, top air transport command officers gave No. 1 priority for three army planes to carry football personnel from

Nashville to Washington. Of course, this was in connection with the ATC football game, but the boys sitting on Eniwetok or Saipan can't enjoy football, and airplanes could help to bring them home. (Many combat veterans discharged from Fort Lewis, Wash., have to ride 3,500 miles in day coaches.)

3. The other day a Liberty ship, the Connie L. Kluxton, arrived in Baltimore from Germany bringing only 47 soldiers but 15,000 tons of sand ballast. It's true that Liberty ships are not equipped as troop carriers, but soldiers don't care much how they travel if they are coming home.

4. At San Mateo, Calif., two race horses were flown from Los Angeles. This was a commercial trip, but the boys overseas wonder why airplanes can be spared for such unessential travel when they can't be spared for them.

5. Down at Macdill Field, Fla., Col. E. C. Simenson used two big cargo planes on a trip to his home in North Dakota to shoot pheasants. One of the planes was used to fly to the rescue of the other when the first went bad at Terre Haute, Ind. The colonel even carried a jeep inside the first plane to scare up pheasants after he got to North Dakota.

Col. Simenson had been in Europe for a long time, his parents live in North Dakota, and nobody would begrudge him a visit home—especially since General Marshall and Gen. Hap Arnold also flew out to shoot pheasants.

But the thing the brass hats do not seem to realize is the effect all this flying around in big planes has on the men who would like to use those same planes to fly home. Until rank favoritism is eliminated, the generals will have a hard time building up the new 4,000,000-man army proposed by George Marshall—unless Congress rams it down the GI's throats.

10,000 Robinson Crusoes

Eniwetok atoll in mid-Pacific is just two miles long, one-half a mile wide. On it are crammed nearly 10,000 U. S. sailors and marines, falling all over each other, sitting on the beach, hunting shells, waiting, waiting for ships or planes to take them home.

On the island, Seabees are building a 3,000-man laundry, though no more than 500 men will ever be stationed on Eniwetok in piping days of peace. They are also building a 3,000-man ice cream plant, a gigantic garage, a huge hospital, and luxurious quonset huts for senior officers, with flush toilet.

A conference of officers was held the other day to encourage men to join the regular navy. A senior Annapolis officer gave a pep talk. Among other things he said: "Any enlisted man who does not wear a complete uniform at all times will be put on 10 days bread and water." (This after they had been allowed to wear any type of clothing for 19 months. Witness MacArthur's and Halsey's open collars.)

"Where can you get a better job than in the navy," he urged. "I am going to be pensioned at

APPLAUSE FROM ROYALTY

XXIII

BACK in Paris, my next engagements were the Concert Mayol and a cabaret date at Le Jardin de ma Soeur.

Every night at the Jardin I received invitations from people who wanted me to join them for champagne, which I continuously refused, being too tired to care about meeting anybody; besides, I never touched alcohol on account of my work.

Oscar Movo, the owner of the Jardin, used to tell me who everybody was and whom I should meet.

I was cross and tired, and Nina practically had to drag me to my car. As we drove to our rendezvous, she pouted into me the same thing Oscar Movo had said. Princesse Murat, it appeared, was a person who, if she wanted to make an artist famous, could do so almost overnight. She was very wealthy, very charitable, and considered eccentric, for she lived her own life with a superb disregard for the narrow conventions of her snobbish social set.

She sounded all right, but I was tired, sulky, and not the least bit receptive to meeting wealthy art patrons, yet when I rose to greet Princesse Murat as she entered the restaurant, I forgot my fatigue under the great charm and gentleness of the most remarkable woman I have ever met. She was to become my closest friend.

Five, all excellent entertainers. The evening meant not only extra fatigue for me but very late hours, for we were supposed to work first at her house about 1 in the morning while another orchestra filled in at the Jardin, then come back there when we finished at 2. The next day, Comtesse de la Beraudiere called on me at the apartment and found me in the middle of rehearsing a new number with Morgan. She had brought with her two ultrasmart Frenchmen, the Comte de Morny and the Vicomte de Janze, and while I was dressing, Morgan interviewed them. He came and told me that the "Marquis de Consonne Froid, and the Vicomte de Consonne Chaud" were both disposed to go fairly high in their fee, because, they said, the fete was for a very distinguished personage from England who was crazy about the Charleston and colored bands. I realized in a flash they meant His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, and thought I had better accept.

The fete at the Beraudiere house was a brilliant social function and most uncomfortable to work in. The staff of servants had, with praiseworthy thoroughness, polished the floor of the ballroom until it was positively dangerous to dance and tumble. I was far too busy trying not to break my neck to take much stock of what was going on around me, until the moment when I could stand still and take my bows; then I saw that the room had been arranged like a cabaret restaurant with a floor show, and at one of the tables was the guest of honor, the center of a group of flattered guests, but like his royal parents, he seemed to be a long way off and not particularly interested in anything.

I was in error about this, however, for after the performance, Comtesse de la Beraudiere's son came to my dressing room and told me that I had achieved a great success, that some of my steps made a hit with the Prince, who was simply crazy about the Charleston.

$4,500 a year from now."

But the boys on Eniwetok don't want to join the regular navy. They want to get home. They collect shells and look for ships, watch high-ranking admirals fly home in special planes and hear about U. S. harbors crowded with idle ships on Navy day. Most of all they wonder what's become of Admiral King's "magic carpet."

"We're all fine," replied stocky, fullback-built Representative Albert J. Engel, Michigan Republican. "Not one of us has been ill on this tour and the same applies to our families—with one exception."

Engel pointed to Brig. Gen. W. L. Mitchell, who accompanied the committee on the 36,000-mile trip.

The general's wife presented him with a baby girl yesterday.

The pope congratulated General Mitchell and said that in addition to giving his blessing to those present he would extend a special blessing for the well-being of the child, born in Washington, D. C.

"That's the longest one I have ever given," said His Holiness, who impressed committee members by his modesty and informality.

Note—Aides of Myron Taylor, U. S. emissary to the Vatican, informed the committee that the Pope had given shelter to more than 6,500 Jews, disguised as priests, nuns and brothers, in the Vatican during the war.

Tennessee Atomic Energy

A friend asked Representative Percy Priest of Tennessee, who graduated into politics from the city room of the Nashville Tennessean, how far the awesome atomic bomb factory at Oak Ridge, Tenn., was from his home.

"About 170 miles," replied Priest.

"Doesn't it make you nervous to be that close to the crucible of the most destructive weapon in the world?" asked the friend.

"Not at all," chirruped Priest. "This bomb doesn't frighten us. People in Tennessee have always been noted for their atomic energy."

"That may be true," wisemen say.

Total Abstinence is Alcoholics' Cure

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.

Written for N.E.A. Service

Even though a drinker may use alcoholic beverages to excess, he is not an alcoholic if he can stop drinking at will.

Alcoholics Anonymous is an organization of alcoholics who found it impossible to stop drinking without the assistance of others.

This movement, now a little over 10 years old, has chapters in most major American cities.

Men and women alcoholics are eligible to join Alcoholics Anonymous if they voluntarily seek admission and promise to accept and practice its teachings. The most successful chapters are led by alcoholics who know that total abstinence is the only answer to their problem. Contrary to popular misconceptions, true Alcoholics Anonymous members are not occasional or moderate drinkers, but total abstainers.

Medical Treatment First

When an alcoholic seeks admission to Alcoholics Anonymous he must obtain medical and hospital care until he recovers from the effects of drinking. When alcoholics go on sprees, they do not stop until they run out of liquor or become ill or get into trouble.

New members are instructed in the practices and beliefs of the organization, including regular attendance at meetings. They find it new and strange to be surrounded by men and women who understand their problems better than any one else they have ever known. They are helped by teaching and examples to stay dry and to find themselves in helping other alcoholics stay dry.

Day-By-Day Resolved

Alcoholics remain dry only by the practice of a resolution to avoid drinking today, as yesterday belongs to the past and tomorrow is not yet here. Alcoholics Anonymous tells us that if they made a resolution to stay dry the rest of their lives it would be too difficult to keep.

The Alcoholics Anonymous movement has made a splendid record throughout the country and is rapidly winning the respect of informed men and women. Individual failures result when a member does not accept Alcoholics Anonymous teaching. Members are urged to ask a higher power for assistance every morning and during the day when temptation arises, and when they retire it is suggested that they thank Him for assistance during the day. The movement is non-denominational and open to all alcoholics who sincerely desire to stop drinking.

On 'Women In The Future'Dr. Shofstall Is Speaker Before
B. And P. W. Club

Dr. Welton Perry Shofstall, dean of administration of Stephens College, Columbia, guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Sedalia Business and Professional Women's club Thursday night, at the Bothwell hotel, spoke on "Women in the Future."

Referring to economic conditions in the world as in somewhat of a mess, Dr. Shofstall declared it is more important to do something about the people in the world than about everything else. Laws, he said do not control behavior. They are a reflection of what people are already thinking. Making laws, he said, without first doing something about the hearts and souls of people just means backing up again and again.

Needed in the world today, he said, to live up to principles of a democratic government, are people who have the courage to be loved by other people, and people who have the capacity to love other people, people who believe in the worth of humanity and act accordingly. The world, he said, is dominated by selfishness and force, children are reared by autocratic methods while democracy is preached to them. Man's inhumanity to man, he declared, is the biggest detriment in force in the world today.

Training For Future
Women, he said, are discriminated against as a force—and too often are judged as a group instead of individuals. He urged them to be first, human beings, second females, and then men, never. You are what you are, he said, because of things that have happened to you, not because you are good or indifferent.

Most of us, he said, are beyond redemption, but we can have a part in training the future generations.

Dr. Shofstall was introduced by Mrs. Ruth C. Riley, chairman of the legislative committee of the club, who presided over the program. Mrs. Riley also presented Miss Ruth Ann Yunker, who played three piano solos.

Mrs. Bertha Rose, club president, presided over the business session, and the invocation was asked by Mrs. A. R. Rush.

Two new club members were presented by Miss Lois Fricke. They were Miss Myrtle Love, comptomist at the Missouri Pacific shops and Miss Lavila Smart, children's librarian at the Sedalia public library.

Members of Mrs. Riley's committee, in charge of the meeting, were: Mrs. J. G. Banks, Mrs. Mildred Goddard, Mrs. Rose Hausam, Mrs. Ray Lippard, Miss Emilie Brunies, Miss Margaret Grady, Mrs. Hortense Juneau, Miss Hazel Palmer.

Child Is Killed
By Deer Rifle

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 2.—(P)—Sarah June Ederer, 4, was killed by a shot from a deer rifle Thursday as Missouri opened its three-day deer hunting season in warm, unfavorable weather.

Conservation Commission Supervisor E. K. Sampson reported the tragedy.

He said Leo Ederer, Doniphan merchant and the little girl's father, brought his loaded rifle into the house when he returned from hunting. Nickie Joe, 8, Sarah June's brother, got hold of the gun and accidentally shot his sister, Sampson reported.

Throughout the 21-county deer area, a big increase in hunters was noted but kills were spotty and deer were widely dispersed. Conservation agents said it was too soon to tell whether the number of kills would surpass last year as predicted.

A highlight of the opening day was a spectacular shot in Crawford county by B. F. Williams of (1203 A, Tower Grover) St. Louis, a marine just returned from three years in Pacific battle areas.

Williams, discharged October 12, hit a 225-pound buck between the eyes at 45 yards with his single shot, bolt action .22-caliber rifle. The deer, killed an hour and a half after the season opened this morning, was the largest weighed in the Indian Trail area.

Capt. Russell
Back From India

Capt. James W. Russell, who has been stationed in India for the last eight months with the Air Transport Command, flying gasoline over the "Hump" into China, following a year of service in the Pacific as a bomber pilot, arrived in Sedalia Wednesday night.

He is with his wife, the former Miss Virginia Donlon, and their baby daughter, Barbara Gayle, at the home of Mrs. Russell's parents, 720 West Fifth street. Capt. Russell also is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Russell, 520 South Summit avenue. He flew back to the United States in a C-54 via Cairo and Casablanca.

The captain will report at Jefferson Barracks about November 8 for his discharge. He entered active service with the 128th Field Artillery nearly five years ago, later transferring to the Air Force. He wears several decorations in addition to his combat stars, including the Distinguished Flying Cross and cluster. Between his tours of duty overseas he was in the States for six months.

Falzone Resigned Seat In Missouri Senate On Thursday

Says Condition
Of Wife Such He Feels Best Trial
Be Terminated

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.
Nov. 1—(AP)—State Senator
Joseph A. Falzone's resignation was handed to Lt. Gov. Walter N. Davis in the lobby of a Jefferson City hotel at 7:45 tonight.

Waldo Edwards of Macon,
one of Falzone's attorneys, brought the resignation here from St. Louis after a conference with his client in St. Louis this afternoon, where the St. Louis county Republican decided to resign because "my wife's physical and mental conditions is such that I think the trial should be terminated."

Edwards said Falzone wrote out his resignation in longhand in the bedroom where his wife lay seriously ill after suffering a nervous collapse yesterday morning.

The attorney said Falzone had not been subjected to senatorial pressure to resign.

"He did it himself."

Davis, who said earlier he would present the resignation formally to the senate Monday, was waiting in the (Missouri) hotel lobby when Edwards arrived.

Both the attorney and Falzone said they regarded Mrs. Falzone's illness as the thing which dictated his decision to quit the senate.

"To me my wife's health is more important than anything that happens in the senate or anywhere else," he said, adding that she was with friends and he did not want her interviewed.

His attorneys had advised him his wife's presence at the hearing was essential since she was one of the chief defense witnesses.

"The senate is with me and I have an abundance of evidence to defeat the charges," he said following his conference with Edwards.

"But my wife's physical and mental condition is such that I think the trial should be terminated.
I had no fear of the result if it had continued, but I don't think my wife should be subjected to the type of prosecution that has been evident in this case. I have no bitterness and have been urged by many senators not to resign."

Make Statement Tuesday

"I will be in Jefferson City
Tuesday and will make statement to the senate under rules of personal privilege."

The long controversy over Falzone's right to membership in the senate began last April when St.
Louis newspapers published the accusation of Mrs. Lillian V. Mac-callum that the St. Louis countian had asked that she and her associates get $1,500 to pay for spon-

Text Of Falzone's Resignation

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 1—(AP)—Here is the text of Sen. Joseph A. Falzone's resignation, written in ink on his senate stationery at his home this afternoon:

"Hon. Walter N. Davis,
Lieutenant Governor, Jefferson

Arthur Kahn Died at Home On Thursday

Prominent Citizen Pioneered in Clothing Business

Arthur Kahn, pioneer in the clothing business in Sedalia, and who for about 54 years has been a member of the firm of the St. Louis Clothing Company, died at his home, 901 West Broadway, at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Mr. Kahn had been ill at his home for two weeks, but was not considered in a serious condition until Tuesday. Even that morning he did not seem near death, and apparently relished breakfast served him by Mrs. Kahn. A short time later he passed away peacefully.

Arthur Kahn

Mr. Kahn, who held the position of president-manager of the St. Louis Clothing Company, was born in Kolbsheim, Alsace, France, February 24, 1869. He came to the United States at the age of 13, going first to Newton, Kas. It was about 54 years ago that four brothers, Albert, Felix, Sylvain and Arthur Kahn came to Sedalia and established the well known firm of which Mr. Kahn, the last survivor of the brothers, remained as the head.

He returned to Europe on a visit and in 1896, was married, in Alsace-Lorraine, to Miss Clementine Joseph, of that place, who returned to Sedalia with him as a bride. She survives him as do two children, Mrs. Louis Freudenthal, of Las Cruces, N. M., who arrived in Sedalia at 2:00 o'clock Thursday morning and Robert E. Kahn, of Sedalia, and two grandchildren, Elsa and Max Arthur Freudenthal.

During the evening Captain William Miller, Lieut. William A. Pace, Lieut. Paul Alpert, of Sedalia, and Captain W. L. Chick of Clinton, along with S/Sgt. Luther M. Beymer, S/Sgt. John W. Rieves, Pvt. Cecil O'Brien, Pfc. Riley T. Hayworth, Pfc. Denver Miller, and Pfc. Tommy Craig, met in the office of Captain A. B. Burke, and discussed the organization of the Second Battalion 128th Field Artillery organization.

Plans For Organization

The group at this meeting decided to hold another meeting at the Sedalia Armory, on Wednesday November 23rd at which time formal organization will be held, and election of officers conducted. A committee is to be appointed at that time to formulate by-laws.

All members of Battery D, of Bonville, Battery E, of Clinton, Battery F, Headquarters Battery and Service Trains Battery of Sedalia, which left Sedalia back in 1940 are invited to attend.

Among the officers attending the reunion Thursday night who were old members of the 128th were Col. John C. "Jack" McLaughlin, Major Patrick Handley, Major Captain H. O. Berry, Captain Milton Mathews, Lieut. Thomas L. Biggs, Lieut. Paul Alpert, Lieut. Richard Arbuckle, Lieut. William A. Pace, all of Sedalia, and Captain W. L. Chick of Clinton.

Marriage Licenses Issued

Gerald H. Larabee and Stella Marie Tye, both of Sedalia.

Reuben L. Brandes, Cole Camp and La Vera Ehlers, of Stover.

Appeal Made to Sedalians to Finish Job

"Let's finish the job! This is the last time you'll be called upon to invest in extra bonds." This is the appeal made by the government to the American people.

To win the final battle, we need to keep on doing the same job we have been doing during the war. But this drive for the sale of the last extra bonds is different. These bonds are for peace and prosperity. To bring our men home. To take care of the wounded. To give the returning serviceman a real chance to get a start in a free and peaceful world.

"This is your chance for a good investment in the future. Buy those extra bonds now." Ben Robinson, co-chairman with C. L. Hanley of the Victory Loan Drive, urges. "Let's make Pettis county one of the first to reach its goal."

200 Attend 'Vets' Reunion

Party Sponsored By Company F, Is Given At Armory

More than 250 persons attended the reunion of veterans of the old 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guards, and veterans of Company F, Fourth Missouri Infantry, who saw service during World War II, which was held at the State Guard Armory, Thursday night. The party was sponsored by Company F, Fourth Missouri Infantry, in honor of the above mentioned veterans.

Major A. H. Wilks, gave a brief address of welcome and told of Battery F and Headquarters Battery entering federal service back in December 1940, and were re-enlisting training at the time Pearl Harbor was bombed causing the outbreak of war for the United States.

Col. George Farrell, commanding officer of the Fourth Missouri Infantry, Columbia, gave the principal talk of the evening. Colonel Farrell, told of the 128th being called for federal service in 1940 and of their leaving Missouri on December 5 of that year. He reviewed the duties of the Missouri State Guard, which replaced the activity of the National Guards in Missouri, and of these volunteers carrying on during the four and a half years.

He also said that it will be a year to eighteen months before the National Guards will be reorganized and predicted greater success of this organization than pre-war days. The colonel also stated the record of the Missouri National Guards rated among the first in National Guards in the United States prior to Pearl Harbor, and even the Missouri State Guards have rated in the top brackets for their work since the war, among such organizations in the United States.

Had Social Session

Following the talk of Colonel Farrell, a social session was enjoyed at which time Lee Brandt's orchestra played for dancing and a buffet luncheon being served by members of Company F.

During the evening Captain William Miller, Lieut. William A. Pace, Lieut. Paul Alpert, of Sedalia, and Captain W. L. Chick of Clinton, along with S/Sgt. Luther M. Beymer, S/Sgt. John W. Rieves, Pvt. Cecil O'Brien, Pfc. Riley T. Hayworth, Pfc. Denver Miller, and Pfc. Tommy Craig, met in the office of Captain A. B. Burke, and discussed the organization of the Second Battalion 128th Field Artillery organization.

Plans For Organization

The group at this meeting decided to hold another meeting at the Sedalia Armory, on Wednesday November 23rd at which time formal organization will be held, and election of officers conducted. A committee is to be appointed at that time to formulate by-laws.

All members of Battery D, of Bonville, Battery E, of Clinton, Battery F, Headquarters Battery and Service Trains Battery of Sedalia, which left Sedalia back in 1940 are invited to attend.

Among the officers attending the reunion Thursday night who were old members of the 128th were Col. John C. "Jack" McLaughlin, Major Patrick Handley, Major Captain H. O. ## Tax Slash Bill Gets Approval

Senate Sends It To White House For Signature Of The President

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—The senate approved the $5,920,000,000 tax reduction bill today, sending it to the White House for President Truman's signature.

The house on Tuesday had accepted the final form of the measure as worked out by a senate-house conference.

Admittedly a "quickie" bill to bridge the gap between V-J day and enactment of comprehensive postwar tax legislation, it will reduce everybody's income tax, lift all income tax liability from 12,000,000 persons and give veterans special tax preference, for total individual reductions of $2,644,000,000;

Repeal the excess profits tax on corporations, along with the declared value excess profits levy and the capital stock tax, and reduce the combined normal and surtax rates on business by from 2 to 4 percentage points, for a total corporate saving of $3,136,000,000;

Ends "Use Tax"

End the "use tax" on cars and boats, reducing federal revenue by $140,000,000; and

Freeze the Social Security payroll tax throughout 1946 at the present rate of 1 per cent each on employers and employees.

The bill makes no change in the wartime excise taxes on such things as furs and cosmetics. The house had voted to set these back to their 1942 rates next July but the senate balked.

Individuals drawing salaries or wages will feel the benefits immediately after January 1. They'll have smaller tax withholdings from their pay envelopes.

Savings to individuals under the new income tax provisions are illustrated by such comparisons as these:

A married person with two dependents, salary $1,800 a year, tax under old law $39, none under new. Married man, no dependents, $7,000 income, $1,555 tax under old law, $1,292 under new. Single person, $2,500 salary, $460 old law, $380 new.

Schedule Of Taxes

Persons with incomes less than $5,000 can read their tax liability directly off tables which will be prepared and sent out by the internal revenue bureau.

Those who have to figure their tax will find the going more complicated. First, the 3 per cent normal tax is put on the same exemption basis as the graduated surtax ($500 apiece for the taxpayer and each dependent). Second, the surtax rate is trimmed by 3 percentage points in each bracket. Finally, the taxpayer is allowed to reduce the total normal and surtax obligation, thus figuring, by 5 per cent.

Veterans who served in the enlisted ranks will be forgiven all federal income taxes on their service pay from 1941 on. Officers get additional time in which to pay up their back taxes without interest.

Dr. Walter Frankel, a surgeon, said the Japanese, some armed with spears, forced the victims in Lurhse's house to kneel with their faces to the wall, spread gasoline on the furniture and set it afire. He told of seeing a servant girl run through the flames a living torch.

Yamashita won a point near the end of the day's session when Maj. Gen. R. B. Reynolds, commission president, rejected a prosecution exhibit showing the slaying of two Germans and one Russian.

Yamashita carried his point through grime and two days' growth of beard, said the weather was "terrible" on this flight also, and that they did not know until they reached Kodiak, Alaska, whether they would make it. As it turned out, his plane landed with 800 gallons of fuel, enough for about three hours.

General Armstrong said the plane took off from the field near Sapporo, capital of Hokkaido, northernmost of the major Japanese islands, during a rain.

They had a helping tail wind up to about 45 miles an hour part of the way, however, and made their best average ground speed of 290 miles an hour between Ft. St. John and Winnipeg.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of the American air forces, who was on hand to greet the airmen, said the flight was "primarily for the purpose of pioneering a new great circle route."

General Eaker told reporters that "I expected Armstrong would make it because he is one of the best combat pilots we have."

Among passengers on one of the planes was Capt. Howard J. Fry of Edna, Kas.

Reconversion Topic Of Farm Home Week

Nationally Known Leaders Will Be Heard At Forums

"Reconversion and Agriculture" will be topic of Farm and Home Week at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture on November 19 and 20. In large open-forum meetings, nationally known leaders in both agriculture and industry will discuss reconversion problems with farm people gathered from every part of Missouri. An invitation is extended to everyone who is interested.

Clearly farm people have a stake in prompt and successful reconversion. It means more customers and fewer competitors for farmers. It means customers with better filled pocketbooks and greater wants, and it creates the only situation in which agriculture can be relatively prosperous.

Major Job of Own

Agriculture has a major reversion job of its own. Since the start of the war, American farmers have increased their per capita food production 29 per cent. On the other hand, food consumption has increased only 10 per cent, and even without our diversion to lend-lease our domestic consumption probably would not be increased more than 15 per cent.

Moreover our production pattern has changed greatly because of wartime demands which may not continue during the postwar era. The very strong demand and high price for fats and oils, especially soybeans and livestock products like lard, illustrate this point.

Disposing of the quantity produced in excess of post-war consumption, either by increasing consumption or decreasing production, is a major reconversion problem. Most farm people prefer to solve this problem by expanding consumption, but this depends on industrial prosperity. And industrial prosperity depends upon the extent and rapidity of industrial reconversion and the number of workers gainfully employed.

Might Exceed 9 Billion

With high industrial activity between now and 1950, net farm income might exceed nine billion dollars as compared to three billion in a serious depression.

These and many similar problems will be threshed out at Farm and Home Week, November 19 and 20.

More information in regard to the program and other details of Farm and Home Week may be secured at the county extension office, 410½ South Ohio avenue.

Leaves Valuable On Home Gardens

Much good plant food and organic matter is going up in smoke now, says J. U. Morris, County Extension Agent, because many leaves are being burned. For the home garden these leaves are valuable. This is one way of adding organic matter to the soil, which is badly needed on most areas. By adding organic matter the soil becomes spongelike, which makes it more friable, easier to work, and holds moisture longer during the summer months.

It's not a good policy to spade under raw leaves on a garden but this year's leaf crop should be put in a heap, composted and left to decay, and spade under next fall. In order to hasten decomposition of leaves, 3½ pounds of ammonium sulphate, 3 pounds of finely ground limestone, and 1 pound of super phosphate fertilizer should be mixed with each 100 pounds of leaves. If the ammonium phosphate is not available then a complete fertilizer containing nitrogen, such as 4-12-4 or similar analysis plus some flour lime may be used. The adding of the fertilizer and the lime not only hastens the decay of the leaves but helps balance the plant food that is either spaded or plowed under in the garden. Because of the importance of organic matter and its value in producing high quality tender, crisp vegetables, we could well adopt the slogan, Compost leaves—don't burn them.

Plants On Terrace Outlets
The water management system included complete plans for terrace outlets on field boundaries, structure where needed at the end of outlets, farm ponds, and terracing on all of the crop land. Within the past year, Mr. Campbell has completed four terrace outlets which will handle run-off terrace water from most of his crop land. Two of these outlets which were seeded in the fall of 1944 are ready to carry water from his new terraces.

In addition, 5 miles of terraces constructed according to recommendations of the College of Agriculture have been completed on the farm. These terraces protect 97 acres of his land from erosion. In spite of record breaking rains, very little erosion was evident on Mr. Campbell's terraced fields, which were planted to corn and plowed on the contour.

The experience of Mr. Campbell has been duplicated on the farms of many balanced farming cooperators throughout the state. Seven farm families in the Brinktown community of Maries county have completed balanced farming plans and already have constructed from one to three miles of terraces on every upland farm. Where balanced farming systems are being developed, water management is one of the first problems tackled. "Erosion tears down our soil and fertility faster than we can build it up unless terracing and contouring are practiced" is an observation frequently made by balanced farming cooperators, and others, who have seen the effect of terraces in preventing erosion on rolling fields.

A recent visit to Knox county showed Albert Hagan of the Missouri College of Agriculture many interesting contrasts. While driving through the county he saw numerous fields that had lost thousands of pounds of valuable top soil which can never be restored. However, a visit to the Clay Campbell farm presented a very different picture. Mr. Campbell in cooperation with County Agent Paul Bebermeyer, developed plans for a complete balanced farming system a little over a year ago. Of course, they included complete plans for water management.

He said, "Terracing and contouring are the finest things out." We must control water and stop washing before we can build up the land. With the land terraced, we can put on lime, fertilizer, manure and other soil treatments, and keep it there. We can't possibly keep land as good as it is without terracing."

Technician Scott Given Discharge

Technician 5th grade Floyd E. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Scott of California, Mo., and brother of Lewis A. Scott, 402 East Thirteenth street, received his discharge on October 19 at Jefferson Barracks.

He served overseas twenty-seven months in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre campaign where he was awarded five battle stars. He was in Australia, New Guinea, Admiralty Islands, Philippines and Japan with the First Cavalry Mechanized division which liberated Manila and which was first into Tokyo. He was awarded the purple heart and the infantry combat badge.

He has a brother, Dorsey E. Scott, of the Ordnance department, a former employee of the Askew Motor company, who arrived in Manila the day Floyd left for Japan and just missed seeing him. Dorsey has been in service since February 23, 1945.

The certificate reads as follows:

"In recognition of conspicuously meritorious and outstanding performance of military duty from 5 June 1945 to 2 September 1945. During this period Private First Class James J. Coe exhibited commendable qualities in his ability to assume new and varied duties. As clerk, as mail orderly of his company and finally as instructor in the Division I and E program, he carried out the responsibilities of each position in a manner deserving of highest praise. His devotion to duty has been an inspiration to his fellowmen and reflects credit upon him and the military service."

"Edwin N. Murry, Major, Medical Corps, Commanding, 366th Medical Battalion."

Sgt. Baylor Awarded Three Bronze Stars

Sgt. Charles Baylor received his honorable discharge from military service at Jefferson Barracks and has arrived home.

Sgt. Baylor spent twenty-nine months overseas and is entitled to wear the European, African, Middle Eastern theatre campaign ribbon. He was awarded three bronze stars for battles and campaigns of Rome, Arno, Naples-Foggia, and has also received the good conduct medal.

While in the service he served as military police.

Helped Battle on To Victory

Mrs. Charles Bryant of Spring Fork recently received a G. I. newspaper, "Serving the Doughboys in Combat," from her husband, Sgt. Bryant, stationed in the Philippines, containing a story of the 63rd Infantry division in the Pacific war theater, of which he is a member.

The story, in part, is as follows:

"The 63rd Infantry division has, in 27 months in the Pacific, battled its way to victory though the road has been long and bitter. Tears and blood were shed—lives were lost. But the men of this division fought on and on through the jungles and heat of the South Pacific.

The division has met with serious action, such as the battles in New Guinea and the drive across the northern Manila plains. The men dug out, pillbox by pillbox, with flame throwers, bazookas and grenades over 1,800 Japs pledged to a suicide stand and battered its way through 7,000 yards of steep hills and wooded ravines under constant artillery mortars and machine-gun fire to seize the hills.

"These battle-weary doughboys have fought their way through Luzon and the Bataan peninsula, in one action killing 11,000 Japs, and fired more than 150,000 projectiles in support of our infantry."

Sgt. Bryant has served two years and four months overseas with Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth army and is expected to arrive in the United States sometime in November.

Mrs. Bryant is the former Mary Agnes Eichholz.

Water Management System For Upland Farms Stressed

Where balanced farming systems are being developed, water management is one of the first problems tackled. "Erosion tears down our soil and fertility faster than we can build it up unless terracing and contouring are practiced" is an observation frequently made by balanced farming cooperators, and others, who have seen the effect of terraces in preventing erosion on rolling fields.

Civilians Will Face Cutback In November

Reductions Are To Be Made On Competitive Levels

They're counting points again at SAAFD, but this time it's all happening with the civilian employees on the base. The War Department has ordered cutbacks in utilization of civilian personnel. As a result, some 180-odd civilians will be cut from the payrolls on or about 9 November.

Unlike the counting of military points for an adjusted service rating score and unlike the results obtained for the greatest number accumulated, the civilian service people retain the accent, first, on efficiency; second, on veteran's status; and third, on length of service. Veterans of either of the World Wars gain an extra point a year for military service.

All employees have been placed in three major appointment categories. Category "A" includes civilians who have a permanent civil service appointment by virtue of the fact that they were given a probationary appointment on or before 16 March 1942. Those who fall in "B" category have been appointed since the above date on a War Service Indefinite basis (duration and six months). Employees who fall into the last, or "C," category hold temporary jobs that terminate automatically in one year or before.

Four Sub-Units

Under each main alphabetical heading there are four sub-units, the first of which pertains to employees who hold a good or better efficiency rating plus veteran's status. Sub-unit number two involves those who have the same good or better rating, but with no military service credited. Groups three and four classify employees with fair efficiency ratings with and without military service in that order.

One of the principal matters that was pointed out to all employees at a meeting held 24 October was that reductions and cutbacks would be made on competitive levels. It was explained that the elimination of any single department at the base did not mean that all the employees of that department would automatically be released. All other employees who did similar work in other departments would compete for retention of jobs.

First Lt Alice V. Yeomans, Civilian Personnel Officer at SAAFD, stated that there would be no furloughs or demotions in this cutback, but that all transactions would be definite separations.

Civil service authorities have set up an elaborate method of personnel services available to all separated civilian employees that will very definitely ease the weight of the reduction in force caused by the national demobilization program.

All civilian personnel may easily calculate their respective retention points by allowing themselves 96 points for an excellent rating; 88 points for very good; 80 points for good service; while no points are given for a fair job. One point per year is allowed for all federal employment. Veterans can also claim a point a year for all active military duty.

At the same meeting Col Julius A. Kolb, base commander, expressed the heartfelt thanks of the many SAAFD departments who had received such important and timely assistance from all the civilian employees during their tenure of position. He made it clear that combinations of agencies which formerly were entities in their own had made for the reduction in force. He further emphasized the fact that future chances for civil service jobs of any personnel separated would not be hurt by this separation.

Pfc. Williams Has Five Battle Stars

With 92 points, Pfc. Bruce O. Williams, son of Mrs. Myrtle Williams of Syracuse, received his army discharge at Jefferson Barracks, October 7 and has returned home.

Two years of his three years of service were spent with the 32nd Armored Regiment, Third division of the First Army in the European theater of operations. He received five battle stars representing the Normandy, Northern France, Ardennes, Rhineland and Central European campaigns, the Purple Heart for wounds received at Reims, France, the Bronze Star and Oak Leaf cluster, the Silver Star and Good Conduct medal.

Cablegram Tells Of Release As Prisoner

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Weingartner of California received a cablegram last Sunday from their son, Cpl. Jerome Weingartner, recently released from a Japanese prisoner of war camp, stating he is well and had been discharged from the hospital there. The message was sent from Manila.

Weingartner will leave for San Francisco, Calif., by plane from Manila and expects to be home soon.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Lucy A. Dirck

About

Pettis County's

Historical Society

and

By Mary Helen Mayer

Ma Pettis said to Pa: Didn't you think that young matron who brought her four young children in to see the "Katy" bear and the other exhibits interesting to children, made a good point?

She was remarking to her husband (Mr. Leo Dick) how useful this museum is in providing a safe storage place for rare and publicly interesting documents which descendants of early Pettis countians may have and like to share with others. She referred specifically to a payroll book kept by her grandfather, J. G. Nauman, the father of "Aunt Bet" Cole, widow of the late contractor, "Uncle Jack" Cole, who with her daughter, Miss Minnie Cole, lives out on the "hill" near the cemetery, on a plot which was purchased from George R. Smith, the founder of Sedalia, and which has never changed hands since. This payroll book has printed across the top of each page, "J. B. Nauman, Contractor Northern Extension of Tebo & Neosho RR. Payroll for the Month of 1877—"

The pages are divided into eight columns, with spaces for recording: the employee's name, the number of days in the month that he worked, his board bill, amount received (probably as pre-pay day loans or as credits in the commissary), the amount due, and finally a column for the actual signature of the employee in receipt of his pay. The cost of renting a safety deposit box in which to keep so large a book (It is 18 inches long, by 11 wide, and about an inch thick) would be prohibitive; yet in one's own home there is danger from fire, mice and moths, and the paper-tearing propensities of young children. The museum offers a place for such interesting old documents in a building that is fireproof and in cases which are practically airtight. But above all the museum offers an opportunity for one to share one's treasures and at the same time help to develop in one's children the very valuable trait of pride in one's ancestry.

(The Tebo and Neosho Railroad was the original predecessor of the MK&T, and this payroll book covers the period from April to November in 1870 and contains the actual signatures of over 200 railroad employees of that time.)

The dog's head was taken to Jefferson City by James Wear, where examination revealed the presence of rabies.

Now receiving anti-rabic treatment are Percy Martin, Mrs. Gregory Salmons, Mrs. Jackie Hoch, Glen Bottoms and Linda Broderen, who were bitten by the animal.

The town board of health ordered killed all dogs known to have been bitten, further demanding that all other dogs of the community be kept tied for 30 days for observation.

These new household appliances would have been available to the public some time sooner except for War Production Board restrictions.

The Frigidaire Division, G.M.C. began limited production of refrigerators following termination of its war contract in July. Following V-J Day the company swung into all-out reconversion, production began to hum, and is now said to be at peak efficiency.

Two Castoffs To Big Leagues

Demaree And Lou Novikoff Grabbed In Baseball Draft

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
CHICAGO, Nov. 1—Two major league castoffs, outfielders Lou Novikoff and Frank Demaree, topped a slim list of nine major league players grabbed in the annual baseball draft today.

Only seven of the 16 major league clubs, gambling a total of $62,500, sifted a selection of more than 5,000 minor leaguers at an eight minute meeting overseen by Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler. Of the nine selected four are in military service.

Demaree, 35 year old veteran of Portland in the Pacific league was the No. 1 selection being picked by the last place Philadelphia Athletics of the American League.

Novikoff, batting .318 for Los Angeles last season, was picked by the Philadelphia Phillies National League tailenders.

Five other players selected from class AA at the standard $7,500 price included:

Gene Handley, infielder with Sacramento, (Pacific Coast League) by the Athletics; Charles Alton (Arky) Biggs, second baseman of Milwaukee, (American Association) by the Chicago White Sox; Pitcher Earl Reid of Indianapolis (American Association) by the Boston Braves; Pitcher Mike Budnick of Settle (Pacific Coast League), by the New York Giants; and Outfielder Ben Guinnini of San Francisco (Pacific Coast League), by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The White Sox also selected outfielder Pete Thomassie of Memphis in the class A Southern Association for $6,000, while the Washington Senators paid the class B price of $4,000 for pitcher Max Wilson of Portsmouth, Va., in the Piedmont League.

Falzone Resigned Seat In The Missouri Senate On Thursday

orship of the legislation they wanted passed.

On the recommendation of a special investigating committee, the senate began its trial Monday afternoon. Falzone was represented by Edwards and Charles E. Rendin, Hannibal attorney.

The senate appointed Mark D. Eagleton, St. Louis attorney and President of the St. Louis police commission, and W. Edwin Moser of St. Louis as its "prosecutors." John C. Casey, joined Moser and Eagleton—his legal associate—on the senate's staff of attorneys.

Wife Had Breakdown

The unprecedented case came to its emotional head yesterday on the tie up of two events.

Early yesterday, Mrs. Falzone suffered a nervous breakdown, became hysterical and physically ill. A physician was called and he advised Falzone to take his wife back to their Clayton, Mo., home and stay with her.

Dr. J. A. Gray, state representative from Atchison county and the physician called to Mrs. Falzone's aid, testified on the senate witness stand that

Then, after the defense attorneys told the senate they had had no previous knowledge their client was leaving town, they asked for a recess in the trial until he could return.

In consideration of the petition, the senate called chief senate attorney Eagleton to the stand. His piteous breakdown as he tried to tell the senate that he had been threatened with injury to his 16-year old son, Tom, added a new climax to the trial that had been building up in suspense as it progressed.

The senate agreed to recess until next Tuesday and Missouri's senators went home with the burden still upon them of trying their colleague further.

But through Wednesday night and most of today a mass of rumors began rising that heavy pressure was being put on Falzone to resign. He declared last night that he had been in the past with harm if he did not resign.

No Comment By Governor
KANSAS CITY, Nov. 1—(P)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, advised of Senator J. A. Falzone's resignation of his seat in the Missouri senate, said tonight he had no comment.

"I don't believe I'd better say anything, under the circumstances," Governor Donnelly said. He was in Kansas City to address a dinner meeting of the Kansas City Bar Association.

"Affair Regrettable"

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 1—(P)—Senator Francis Smith of St. Joseph, member of the special investigating committee which drafted the charges upon which the Missouri senate's trial of Joseph A. Falzone was based, commented tonight on the latter's resignation as follows:

"The entire affair is most regrettable. The most important result is to let the people of Missouri know that the Missouri senate will impartially and vigorously probe any accusation of legislative corruption."

More Attacks In Palestine

Violence Anew Breaks And Four Or Five Killed

By GEORGE PALMER

JERUSALEM, Nov. 1—(P)—Renewed violence broke out in Palestine today with four or five persons killed and eight injured by sudden attacks upon railroads and police launches in two harbors.

A British military communiqué blamed the attacks upon Jews, but did not name any specific group.

Maj. Gen. John D'Arcy, British commander in Palestine, immediately banned movement of all motor traffic on all highways between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., except in municipal areas.

The attackers cut railway lines at approximately 50 places throughout the length and breadth of the country, exploded one police launch in Jaffa port and seriously damaged two others anchored at Haifa. The vessels had been mined.

One British soldier was reported dead and one wounded; one Palestine policeman killed, one believed killed and one wounded; two Palestine railway staff workers killed and six wounded, one critically.

Five armed Jews were captured by police after a train was held up between Jerusalem and Lydda, about 25 miles to the northwest. The men were tracked down after an exchange of shots.

Quiet For Time

The holy land has been relatively quiet for three weeks, since the raid on the Athlit detention camp in which 200 Jewish illegal immigrants were set free. A British constable was killed when a police party pursuing the group was ambushed.

Shortly after midnight this morning explosions rocked Jerusalem, Haifa and Tel Aviv. These were attributed to the railway attacks and the harbor blasts.

The heaviest assault was believed to have occurred on the Lydda station, about 25 miles northwest of Jerusalem. One train and three locomotives were damaged extensively, and a locomotive shed set afire. Other locomotives were mined and the signal box damaged.

One body was found in the rubble at the consolidated refineries installation after a heavy explosion.

In London the Arab office issued a statement asserting the outbreak was "the work of the Zionists," and accusing Zionist leaders of trying "to force the British government into decisions in favor of the Jews."

The statement said that if widespread revolt develops "it will be revolt of the Zionists against the Palestine government and not a civil war between Arabs and Jews."

Hirohito To Pay A Part On Reparations

Some Of His Big Personal Wealth For That Purpose

TOKYO, Nov. 1—(P)—Prince Fumimaro Konoye's new career as a liberal leader tottered today; Allied headquarters chopped away much of his prestige by announcing he was not selected by the Allies to revise the Japanese constitution—a task he already had begun.

Washington's announcement that Emperor Hirohito must pay part of Japan's reparations bill from his huge personal fortune is apt to become an even bigger political bombshell, however. It was the first accusation that the emperor may be blamed, at least partly, for the war.

The economic value of the move is as yet indefinite, pending further investigation of what appears to be a land and bond-poor fortune.

The imperial balance sheet, somewhat more than $106,000,000, is a mere drop in the reparations bucket at best. Only $22,410,658 are in liquid assets.

Little To Say

Japanese likely will have little to say now, but are almost certain generally to interpret the action as an indirect labelling of Hirohito as a war criminal. They heretofore have made little distinction between those openly blamed and those considered to have been indirectly responsible.

Edwin W. Pauley, American member of the reparations committee, voiced what for the Japanese was a revolutionary conception in asserting that there could be no distinction between the emperor and his government.

The Japanese have considered the government as an instrument of the emperor, but he personally has been held too high to be responsible for its mistakes.

The heaviest assault was believed to have occurred on the Lydda station, about 25 miles northwest of Jerusalem. One train and three locomotives were damaged extensively, and a locomotive shed set afire. Other locomotives were mined and the signal box damaged.

One body was found in the rubble at the consolidated refineries installation after a heavy explosion.

In London the Arab office issued a statement asserting the outbreak was "the work of the Zionists," and accusing Zionist leaders of trying "to force the British government into decisions in favor of the Jews."

The statement said that if widespread revolt develops "it will be revolt of the Zionists against the Palestine government and not a civil war between Arabs and Jews."

Silent Resentment

The emperor's fortune has been hitherto considered so inviolate that the mere American demand for the imperial balance sheet brought the first silent resentment among the people at occupation methods.

The fortune, however, has turned out to be disappointingly small in proportion to the reportedly fabulous figures it was supposed to reach. If the emperor actually is required to foot much of the reparations bill, it appears likely that the crown jewelry and what art objects he possesses will go on the block. The jewelry, art objects and stored gold and silver bullion have not yet been reported. They are not expected, however, to amount to any great sum. The effect of the announcement probably will be much greater in its political aspect than in the actual reparations produced.

Brig. Gen. Cleland Was Feted

BOONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 1—(P)—Brig. Gen. Joseph P. Cleland, former Kemper military academy cadet and professor of military science and tactics at Kemper, was feted yesterday in a visit to his home.

General Cleland, who has been awarded the soldier's medal and the legion of merit, was the commanding officer of the 103rd infantry of the 43rd division.

Missouri football fans remember the general as an end on the 1920 undefeated Kemper football team. Art Cogliozzi, who later blossomed into all-American fame, was at the other end of the same team.

Their stories, virtually the same, also embraced incidents at the Miramar apartment house.
